

PACK WITH LOVE

Founding Roadmap & Strategic Plan 2026-2030

A friendly planning guide for the founding youth team, adult advisors, and trusted partners

Love First. Create with Joy. Serve with Purpose.

How to use this plan

This is a flexible guide, not a promise that every step must happen on a fixed date. Pack with Love will grow carefully. We will learn from each project before deciding the next step.

Working mission direction

Pack with Love helps young people use creativity, teamwork, and care to create practical and meaningful projects for children in partnership with trusted local communities.

What we promise to remember

- We listen to trusted partners before deciding what to create.
- We grow at a pace that keeps children safe and lets students learn well.
- We do not measure success only by how many items we distribute.
- We want to support local partners, not replace their relationships with children and families.

01 Our Four-Step Growth Plan

We will start small, learn carefully, and grow only when the team and partners are ready.

PHASE 1 | 2026-2027

Start Our First Project

开始我们的第一个项目

Our goal: Create the first Love & Hope Backpack and learn how to serve children well.

What we will focus on

- Finish the basic brand, Student Charter, founding youth team, and adult-advisor roles.
- Listen to a trusted partner and learn what children may actually need.
- Design the first Love & Hope Backpack project and prepare simple samples.
- Raise approved support and complete production, packing, and distribution planning.
- Use clear child-safety, photo permission, privacy, and partner-approval practices.
- Record what we learn about cost, materials, production, packing, transportation, and distribution.
- Offer optional educational programs — such as the project-based math course From Data to Impact — when they serve both student learning and the mission. Program profit (net of real product costs) supports the project's shared goal; tuition pays for teaching and is never counted as a donation.

How we will know we are ready: “Did we complete one thoughtful project that children could use and that a trusted partner found helpful?”

PHASE 2 | 2027-2028

Learn, Improve, and Try Again

学习、改进、再尝试

Our goal: Use feedback from the first project to make a better Love & Hope Backpack and complete a second pilot with a trusted partner.

What we will focus on

- Review what worked and what should be improved after the first project.
- Use partner feedback to improve the backpack design, project items, packing plan, and activity materials.
- Prepare the first short impact report with approved photos, stories, costs, and lessons learned.
- Complete a stronger second Love & Hope Backpack project with a trusted partner.
- Help students take a little more responsibility in planning, communication, and reflection.

How we will know we are ready: “Did we listen, improve, and complete a stronger second project?”

PHASE 3 | 2028-2030

Grow Trusted Partnerships

建立可信赖的伙伴关系

Our goal: Work with more trusted partners while keeping the project quality, student learning, and safety strong.

What we will focus on

- Build 2-4 trusted partnerships over time, only when there is a good fit.
- Adjust project contents for different children, settings, and partner needs.
- Give middle school students opportunities to become team leads.
- Invite older students to serve as mentors or project leaders under adult guidance.
- Create a yearly rhythm for planning, fundraising communication, supply tracking, serving, and reflection.
- Try small fundraising products only when they help the mission and do not become the mission.

How will we know we are ready: “Can we serve different children and partners without losing the care and quality of our first projects?”

FUTURE | 2030 and Beyond

Grow a Youth Service Community

成长为青年服务社群

Our goal: Expand carefully only when the founding team, adult support, partner relationships, and project systems are ready.

What we will focus on

- Consider a student leadership group, school chapter, local chapter, or partner club only when there is enough adult support.
- Create reusable activity materials and a simple volunteer handbook when partners find them helpful.
- Build a youth mentorship system so older students can encourage younger members.
- Continue publishing a simple annual impact report and using it to improve the next year.

How we will know we are ready: “Are young people becoming ready to help the next generation serve children with care and responsibility?”

02 Founding Timeline

This is a planning rhythm. We will review it each year and adjust it when real project experience tells us to slow down, improve, or move forward.

YEAR	FOCUS	WHAT WE HOPE TO COMPLETE
2026	Get Ready	Confirm the founding team and adult-advisor roles. Approve the Charter. Choose the first partner to listen to and begin the first Love & Hope Backpack design.
2027	First Project	Raise approved support, produce and deliver the first Love & Hope Backpack project, and collect partner feedback and practical lessons.
2028	Learn and Try Again	Improve the project based on what was learned. Prepare the first short impact report. Complete a stronger second Love & Hope Backpack project with a trusted partner.
2029	Grow Carefully	Build trusted partnerships, let students take more team-lead roles, and adjust project contents for different children and settings.
2030	Prepare for the Future	Review whether the team is ready for reusable materials, youth mentorship, and careful future growth such as a local or school chapter.

Important reminder

Moving to the next step is not automatic. Before Pack with Love grows, the team should ask: Are our partners happy with the project? Are children being served well? Are adult advisors able to supervise safely? Are students learning and ready for more responsibility?

Our yearly project rhythm

1. Listen: Ask trusted partners about children, needs, practical limits, and what would be useful.
2. Create: Choose a theme, design materials, plan costs, and make samples.
3. Prepare: Raise approved support, order or make items, pack carefully, and confirm logistics.
4. Serve: Work through trusted partners to distribute items with care, respect, and clear roles.
5. Learn: Thank supporters, collect partner feedback, reflect together, and improve the next project.

03 How We Will Know We Are Growing Well

Success is not only about making more backpacks. It is about learning how to serve children and partners well.

For Children ● Children can use and enjoy the project items. ● Items are safe, age-appropriate, and respectful of the local setting. ● Children are treated with care, respect, and joy.	For Partners ● The partner says the project fits its setting and goals. ● The partner tells us which items were useful. ● Any follow-up is voluntary, partner-led, and realistic.
For Students ● Students do more than pack or hand out items. ● Students learn design, teamwork, fundraising communication, reflection, and responsibility. ● Students are gradually trusted with age-appropriate leadership roles.	For the Project ● Costs and approved funding are clear and recorded. ● Production, packing, transportation, privacy, and safety are reviewed. ● The team knows what to repeat, change, pause, or improve next time.

After each project, we will try to collect:

- The number and type of backpacks or care items prepared and distributed.
- A simple record of costs and how approved funds supported the project.
- Partner feedback about usefulness, fit, distribution, and future needs.
- Student reflections about what they created, learned, and would improve.
- Lessons about materials, production, packing, transportation, and communication.
- Approved photos or stories only when partner permission, privacy, and safeguarding rules are followed.

What success does not mean

Success does not simply mean the most backpacks, the most money, or the most photos. A strong project is one that children can use, partners find helpful, students learn from, and adults can supervise responsibly.

04 Founding Team Responsibilities

Each person brings different gifts. Students lead in age-appropriate ways, while adults provide the guardrails for safety, money, production, partnerships, and official decisions.

FOUNDING ROLE	MAIN CONTRIBUTION	HOW THIS HELPS THE ROADMAP
Joanna Zhang Founder & Founding President	Helps lead the club vision, yearly theme, creative direction, and student coordination.	Keeps the first projects connected to the club's purpose: helping children feel loved, seen, and remembered.
Ethan Yao Founding Designer	Helps create artwork for backpacks, T-shirts, activity pages, cards, and simple gifts.	Turns the project theme into designs that are child-friendly, joyful, and useful.
Vera Sun Founding Finance & Impact Leader	Helps with age-appropriate fundraising materials, donor thank-you messages, budget-learning activities, project updates, and Annual Impact Report support.	Helps explain the purpose and impact of the project. She does not collect, hold, approve, or manage club funds.
Gabriel Leo Founding Community & Outreach Leader	Helps welcome new families into Pack with Love — sharing the club's projects with friends, classmates, churches, and communities, and helping families understand age-appropriate ways to participate.	Opens the club's door: helps new participants and communities — including on the East Coast — join the roadmap's projects. He does not register participants or make commitments for the club.
Dino Wang Founding Hearts & Encouragement Leader	Helps prepare thank-you cards for supporters and Hearts to Hearts encouragement materials for the children served by each project.	Keeps gratitude and encouragement — the heart of the mission — present in every project. All materials follow Adult Advisor review and adult-managed delivery.
Xiaohong Duan Lead Adult Advisor & Student Leadership Mentor	Provides overall supervision, student mentoring, safeguarding, parent communication, partnership coordination, and review of public messaging.	Helps make sure each project is safe, mission-aligned, partner-aware, and realistic.
Kevin Jialin Sun Adult Finance Advisor & Financial Learning Mentor	Provides guidance on budgeting, financial literacy, fundraising transparency, cost planning, record review, and impact reporting.	Helps students understand how approved donations support project items and services. Financial handling follows the approved adult financial channel.

FOUNDING ROLE	MAIN CONTRIBUTION	HOW THIS HELPS THE ROADMAP
Jiangang (Tony) Yao Production & Logistics Advisor & Project Operations Mentor	Provides guidance on suppliers, samples, purchasing, production, quality review, packing, shipping, and transportation planning.	Helps the team make practical choices so the project can be produced and delivered responsibly.
Joyce Xie Overseas Operations Advisor & Business Mentor	Provides guidance on overseas production, quality review, delivery planning, and local-market realities from 20+ years operating manufacturing and wholesale businesses in Papua New Guinea.	Helps the team understand how procurement, production, quality, delivery, and local markets interact in real overseas operations.
Dr. Christopher Leo, MD, PhD, FACP Health & Safety Advisor & Service Trip Mentor	Physician (Internal Medicine & Geriatrics) and Assistant Professor at Duke University; provides guidance on travel health, hygiene, safety, and safeguarding for service activities.	Leads pre-departure training for any travel-related service activity — health, safety, conduct, and cultural respect.

Before we decide to grow, we will ask:

- Does the trusted partner want or approve the next project?
- Can adult advisors support the funding, safety, production, and transportation needs?
- Have students reflected on what worked and what should change?
- Can we protect children's dignity, privacy, and voluntary participation?
- Will this next step strengthen the mission instead of distracting from it?

05 Promises We Make for Every Project

These promises help Pack with Love stay kind, responsible, and focused on meaningful service.

Listen First

We do not decide what children need before listening to the trusted partner and learning about the setting.

Create with Care

We choose designs, colors, messages, and items that are safe, useful, joyful, age-appropriate, and respectful of local culture.

Keep Children at the Center

We want children to feel welcomed, valued, loved, seen, and remembered. Children are never a photo opportunity.

Support Trusted Partners

Our backpacks and materials are meant to support the relationships and programs already led by local churches, schools, nonprofits, and community partners.

Grow Young Leaders

Students receive real responsibilities that fit their age and experience. Adults keep responsibility for money, safety, official promises, production, and logistics.

Learn Before We Grow

We collect feedback, review costs, and improve our work before taking on bigger quantities, more partners, or more complicated projects.

The question we will ask every year

“Did this project help children in a meaningful way, support a trusted partner, and help our young people grow as caring, responsible servants and leaders?”

Love First. Create with Joy. Serve with Purpose.
